Purpose of this Manual

The Protection of Personal Information Act 4 of 2013 recognises that, in terms of the Constitution of South Africa, everyone has the right to privacy. This includes the right against unlawful collection, retention, dissemination and use of personal information. The Act therefore regulates the processing of personal information by public and private bodies in a manner that gives effect to the constitutional right to privacy subject to justifiable limitations that are aimed at protecting other rights and important interests, particularly the right to access to information.

The Act requires responsible parties to take actions to ensure protection of personal information when processing, and compliance with the eight lawful conditions of processing set out in the Act.

The purpose of this PAIA Manual is to facilitate access to information in line with the Promotion of Access to Information Act (PAIA) and to uphold the principles of transparency, accountability, and accessibility. This manual serves as a guide for individuals and entities on how to request access to records held by GLA, ensuring these requests are managed with openness and responsibility.

The website address of GLA is www.gla.co.za.

Part 1: The Information Officer and Deputy Information Officers

As a responsible party, GLA must ensure that the conditions for the lawful processing of personal information are complied with. This is done through the appointment of an Information Officer who will take responsibility and accountability for the provisions of the Act.

The Information Officer is the person duly authorised by the Head of GLA. This individual has accepted and acknowledged his role in this capacity and is aware of the accountability that comes with it.

GLA has appointed three Deputy Information Officers to whom the responsibilities in terms of the Act as well as PAIA, will be delegated. The Deputy Information Officers will be afforded sufficient time, adequate resources and the financial means to devote to matters concerning POPIA and PAIA.

The registration of the Information Officer and Deputy Information Officers of GL Attorneys was accepted by the Information Regulator, as confirmed by the certificate attached hereto as Annexure “GLA1”.

The name of the responsible party was changed from “Groenewald Lubbe Incorporated” to “GL Attorneys” with effect from 11 August 2022. A disclosure certificate issued by the Companies and Intellectual Property Commission is attached hereto as Annexure “GLA2”.

Records may be withheld until the fees have been paid.

The fee structure is available on the website of the South African Human Rights Commission at www.sahrc.org.za.

Part 6: Processing of Personal Information

GLA processes personal information in compliance with the eight lawful conditions set out by the Protection of Personal Information Act (POPIA). Each condition ensures that the processing of personal information is fair, accountable, and protects the rights of data subjects.

These conditions are as follows:

1. Accountability

GLA, as a responsible party, is accountable for ensuring that all conditions for lawful processing are adhered to. This means that GLA will take responsibility for protecting personal information and will remain transparent in its handling of personal information.

2. Processing Limitation

Personal information is processed lawfully and in a minimal, reasonable manner. GLA will only collect information necessary for its specified purpose, will avoid collecting excessive personal information, and will obtain information directly from the data subject when possible.

3. Purpose Specification

Personal information is collected for a specific, explicitly defined, and lawful purpose. GLA does not use the information for a different purpose unless consent is obtained or otherwise required by law.

4. Further Processing Limitation

Any further processing of personal information will be compatible with the original purpose for which the data was collected. GLA will ensure that further processing aligns with the data subject's reasonable expectations and the original purpose.

5. Information Quality

GLA will take reasonable steps to ensure the accuracy, completeness, and relevance of the personal information it holds. To maintain data quality, information will be updated as necessary and in accordance with the data subject's input.

6. Openness

GLA will ensure transparency in its information processing activities by providing data subjects with information on the collection and use of their personal information. This includes making the PAIA Manual available and clearly communicating the purposes of data collection.

7. Security Safeguards

GLA will protect personal information through appropriate technical and organizational measures to prevent loss, damage, unauthorized destruction, and unauthorized access to personal data. This includes implementing policies, firewalls, antivirus software, and access controls.

8. Data Subject Participation

Data subjects have the right to access their personal information and request corrections or deletions where information is inaccurate, irrelevant, or obtained unlawfully. GLA will facilitate this participation by providing procedures for data subjects to request updates to their information.

Part 7: Safeguarding of Information

GLA will secure the integrity and confidentiality of personal information in its possession or under its control by taking appropriate, reasonable technical and organisational measures to prevent:

- a) Loss of, damage to or unauthorised destruction of personal information; and
- b) Unlawful access to or processing of personal information.

GLA has performed a risk assessment to identify internal and external risks to personal information in our possession or under our control. This was done based on where information is stored and who has access to it to identify the risk of the above.

The risks identified are as follows:

- a) Loss of Data;
- b) Unauthorised access or theft of data;
- c) Unauthorised sharing of data; and
- d) Inaccurate and outdated data.

Safeguards have been implemented to mitigate the identified risks. These safeguards are monitored on a regular basis and updated as necessary where deficiencies are identified.

The following safeguards are implemented:

- a) Internal policies;
- b) Antivirus;
- c) Firewalls;
- d) Access controls; and

e) Remote destruction.

Part 8: Security Compromises

Where there are reasonable grounds to believe that the personal information of a data subject has been accessed or acquired by any unauthorised person, GLA shall notify:

- a) the Regulator; and
- b) the data subject, unless the identity or contact information of the data subject cannot be established.

The notification will be made as soon as reasonably possible after the discovery of the compromise, taking into account the legitimate needs of law enforcement or any measures reasonably necessary to determine the scope of the compromise and to restore the integrity of the responsible party's information system.

The notification will only be delayed if a public body responsible for the prevention, detection or investigation of offences or the Regulator determines that notification will impede a criminal investigation by the public body concerned.

The notification to a data subject shall be in writing and communicated to the data subject in at least one of the following ways:

- a) mailed to the data subject's last known physical or postal address;
- b) sent by e-mail to the data subject's last known e-mail address;
- c) placed in a prominent position on the website of the responsible party;
- d) published in the news media; or
- e) as may be directed by the Regulator.

The following information will be included in notifications:

- a) a description of the possible consequences of the security compromise;

- b) a description of the measures that we intend to take or have taken to address the security compromise;
- c) a recommendation with regard to the measures to be taken by the data subject to mitigate the possible adverse effects of the security compromise; and
- d) if known, the identity of the unauthorised person who may have accessed or acquired the personal information.

Part 9: Internal training and awareness

Training is provided at regular intervals to employees in order to ensure that everyone is informed of the requirements of POPIA and PAIA, as well as the policies and procedures within GLA to ensure compliance.

Part 10: Retention and disposal of personal information

GLA does not retain Personal Information any longer than is necessary for achieving the purpose for which the Personal Information was collected and processed.

Personal Information is retained for at least seven years from the date of the last entry recorded on a specific file, as contemplated in Rule 54.9.2 of the Legal Practice Council's rules.

GLA, as a responsible party, must destroy or delete a record of Personal Information or de-identify Personal Information as soon as reasonably practicable after it is no longer authorised to retain the record.

Personal Information is destroyed or deleted in a manner that prevents its reconstruction in an intelligible form.

Part 11: Availability of the Manual

This PAIA Manual is available for public inspection on GLA's official website at www.gla.co.za and at the firm's offices during regular business hours. Individuals may also request a copy of the manual by contacting the Information Officer.

Part 12: Updating the Manual

GLA commits to reviewing and updating this PAIA Manual regularly to reflect any changes in applicable laws or regulations. Updates will be published and made accessible to ensure ongoing compliance with PAIA and POPIA requirements.
